THIS ISN'T.

PHYSIOTHERAPY IS NOT A LUXURY

Physiotherapy is vital for health and wellbeing of the Australian community. It enables countless Australians to have quality of life.

Yet despite the evidence of its benefits, physiotherapy is treated as a luxury item. It remains out of reach to many Australians who need it most, including people living with chronic conditions and many Australians who do not have private health insurance.

The APA believes all Australians should have equal access to safe, high-quality physiotherapy. It will bring improved health outcomes, lead to cost saving and make Australia's healthcare system first class as it should be.
